DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 11/09/2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

1. As to Applicants argument regarding that claim 1 meets the requirements of 35 U.S.C. §101.
2. The Examiner respectfully disagrees. Although Applicant has amended claim 1, claim 1 is still lacking a positive recitation to tie the steps of claim 1 to a particular apparatus or device. Thus claim 1, is still interpreted as a series of steps completely performed mentally, verbally, or without a machine. As such, the Examiner maintains the 101 rejection for claims 1. Claims 2-20 are too rejected as being dependent upon claim 1.
3. Re claim 16, which recites wherein the method is implemented on a computer by instructions stored on computer readable medium and configured to implement the steps of the method, which qualifies as statutory subject matter, however, the specification does not define the computer medium to be statutory. Thus, as claimed the medium as considered to be non-statutory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claims 16-17 and 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.
6. Re claims 16-17, which recite "wherein the method is implemented on a computer by instructions stored on a computer readable medium and configured to implement the steps of the method", the Examiner finds no support in the disclosure (Specification and drawings) for instruction (Program or software) stored on computer readable medium.
7. Re claims 19-20, which recite "further comprising displaying the pixel data on a computer display", the Examiner is unable to find support in the disclosure (Specification and Drawings) for the limitations as claimed.

Specification

8. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because of undue length. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).
9. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.
- (b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.
- (c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.
- (d) THE NAMES OF THE PARTIES TO A JOINT RESEARCH AGREEMENT.
- (e) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC.
- (f) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.
 - (1) Field of the Invention.
 - (2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (g) BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION.
- (h) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).
- (i) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.
- (j) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (l) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim(s) 1-20 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as not falling within one of the four statutory categories of invention. Supreme Court precedent¹ and recent Federal Circuit decisions² indicate that a statutory "process" under 35 U.S.C. 101 must (1) be tied to another statutory category (such as a particular apparatus), or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or material) to a different state or thing. While the instant claim(s) recite a series of steps or acts to be performed, the claim(s) neither transform underlying subject matter nor positively tie to another statutory category that accomplishes the claimed method steps, and therefore do not qualify as a statutory process. For example the method for compressing and decompressing video image data including the steps of "selected pixel quantities are analyzed", "contours of image structures are determined", "smoothing and closure of contours is performed", "contours that are in found in this way are described in segments in each case through a parameterized mathematical function", "for individual objects and background a color dominance and color progression is determined", "position and extent of the individual object are determined", "a structure function is determined", "different changes in brightness, size, position, and orientation of the objects are determined", "objects in the background that are defined", "the basic frame data and sequence frame", "in that from the basic frame data", "for the background of the image and the objects,", "which are reconstituted", "the sequence frame data are applied" is of sufficient breadth that it would be reasonably interpreted as a series of step completely performed mentally, verbally, or without machine.

Applicant has provided no explicit and deliberate definitions to tie the method which includes the steps "selected pixel quantities are analyzed", "contours of image structures are determined", "smoothing and closure of contours is performed", "contours that are in found in this way are described in segments in each case through a parameterized mathematical function", "for individual objects and background a color dominance and color progression is determined", "position and extent of the individual object are determined", "a structure function is determined", "different changes in brightness, size, position, and orientation of the objects are determined", "objects in the background that are defined", "the basic frame data and sequence frame", "in that from the basic frame data", "for the background of the image and the objects", "which are reconstituted", "the sequence frame data are applied to limit the steps to a particular apparatus or device.

10. Re claim 16-17 which recites wherein the method is implemented on a computer by instructions stored on computer readable medium and configured to implement the steps of the method, which qualifies as statutory subject matter, however, the specification does not define the computer medium to be statutory. Thus, as claimed the medium as considered to be non-statutory.

Conclusion

2. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
